

2024-2025 Harvard-Yenching Institute Visiting Scholars Program (Faculty only)

This program offers younger faculty members in the humanities and social sciences the opportunity to undertake 10 months of independent research at Harvard University. The proposed research project should be related to the humanities and social sciences with an emphasis on culture. Applicants do not have to be working on Asian studies topics to be eligible, however, Asian and comparative studies are especially welcome. Successful applicants join researchers at the Harvard-Yenching Institute, and have access to the Harvard University libraries. (source: Harvard-Yenching Institute website)

2. Eligibility

[Fields of Research]

* Candidates' fields of research in the humanities and social sciences to be considered: Anthropology, Archaeology, Area and International Studies, Art and Architectural History, History (including economic and legal history), Linguistics, Literature, Media and Film Studies, Philosophy, Politics, Study of Religion, Sociology, Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies

※ Scholars in the fields of Economics, Education, Geography, Law, Psychology, and Public Administration may be considered, but must check with the Institute before submitting applications. If the research field of any potential candidate falls outside the disciplines mentioned above, and you are not sure if the candidate is eligible for the program, please contact Lindsay Strogatz at <hyiprogram@fas.harvard.edu> before submitting an application.

Visiting Scholars Program candidates should have been serving at Ewha Womans University for at least three years (before August 1, 2021) as a full-time faculty member. Scholars who gained their PhD from an institution outside of Asia within the past five years (after 2019) are not eligible. Previous recipients of a Visiting Scholar fellowship from HYI are not eligible to reapply for this program. Preference is given to younger scholars who are in the early stages of their academic career. The selection criteria include English proficiency, academic training (including PhD degree in most cases), quality and originality of the research proposal, demonstrated depth of subject knowledge, and feasibility of conducting the research at Harvard University and/or other major universities in the United States. In cases where qualifications are roughly equal, priority is given to those candidates who have not recently spent substantial time at an American university.

3. Notes

- 1) Successful applicants will work with faculty at Harvard and/or other appropriate universities.
- 2) Successful applicants are required to make at least one public presentation in English on their proposed research project during their stay at the Institute.
- 3) Applicants must consult and seek prior approval from the head of their department on arrangements for substitution of teaching and other academic commitments (classes, thesis guidance, student advising, etc.) during their expected period of absence due to participating in this program.
